"The Climate Crisis and the Threat of Nuclear Annihilation in the Shadow of the US Presidential Elections"

Pierre Schori, reviewed a few recent facts about the climate crisis, the threat of nuclear war, which increases with the Defense Cooperation Agreement and US access to Swedish military bases. Taking the Swedish-American Carl Sandburg, about whom he has recently written a book, as his point of departure, he then proceeded to discuss the situation in the US – the growing class inequalities and the current political situation. This was followed by a Q and A focusing on how the Social Democratic Party as well as Swedish society as a whole handled the question of NATO membership and the Defense Cooperation Agreement. Pierre Schori gave clear examples of how undemocratic the process had been both within the party and in our society.

"The Role of the UN and Our Joint Responsibility for the Environment and the Climate"

Pär Granstedt talked about the work of the UN Resource Panel, their findings and the role of the UN in climate action as well as about what is new on the climate front in Sweden. The ensuing discussion

A group of about ten people are seated in a circle of wooden chairs with red upholstered seats. They are in a room with white walls, a large black TV mounted on the wall, and a wooden bookshelf filled with books in the background. A framed portrait hangs on the wall above the bookshelf. In the foreground, the back of a man's head and shoulders are visible as he sits in a chair. The floor is light-colored, and there are some small red candles or lights on the floor near the front left. The overall atmosphere is that of a community meeting or discussion.

Peace and Just Climate Transition Now!

Come join and build a movement for peace on Earth and peace with the Earth. Now we must come together locally, nationally and internationally for a ceasefire and peace negotiations in all wars, for concrete solutions to climate problems and for a fair distribution of resources.

Militarization all over the world is consuming enormous resources needed to solve the climate crisis and other major problems of our time. To continue to devastate and exploit the natural resources as if they were infinite makes the planet uninhabitable. Life itself is threatened.

We cannot continue to live as if there are numerous globes. Energy use must be greatly reduced both through energy-efficient technology and an energy-efficient lifestyle. We must have a resource-saving society. That requires a fundamental change of the economic system and the society—a change for the better for those living in rural and urban areas and those working in agriculture, forestry, industry and service sectors.

War means that people are killed, injured and traumatized. People are forced to flee. Homes, communal buildings and infrastructure are destroyed. The environment is damaged by pollution, mines and bombs. War leads to military rearmament, it creates enemy images and builds fences between people. Instead we need to build peace.

We invite individuals and organizations to come along and create a people's campaign for peace and justice. We need to build bridges to live together and be able to work together to solve the climate problems. We must create a dignified life for all on our planet. We must work together to secure the food supply and save on our resources. We want the billions for military rearmament directed instead to climate, schools, healthcare and social care.

Peace and just climate transition now!
Disarmament — for the environment and welfare!
For a just world!

The beginning

In 2023 the working group for peace and just climate transition in Stockholm Peace Association initiated a call for peace and climate. They were joined by the Peace Committee in Friends of the Earth Sweden, Artists for Peace and Fridays for Future Lund. The idea was launched at a Peace fair in the House of Solidarity in Stockholm in November and at the People and Peace conference in Sälen in January 2024 for Peace on Earth and Peace with Earth.

At the Nordic summer camp for Peace and Climate Justice new activists joined and preparations started for the participation in the first Global Action Week for Peace and Climate Justice 21 - 28 September 2024. At the same time new organizations in Sweden signed the original call for Peace and Just Climate Transition Now!, see to the right. Local chapters from Fridays for Future in Malmö and Falköping joined as well as national chapters in Kenya and Cameroun. Also new local chapters of the Swedish Peace and Arbitration Society from Gothenburg and Umeå signed as well as Climate Action in Scania province and People against DCA, Women for Peace, and more see: <https://actionnetwork.org/forms/endorsingpcj/>
